

To whom it may concern

We used the Laurini padding machine “Vulcano” and “Vulcano 2.0” in several pipeline projects all over the world and especially in remote areas, overtaking the discontinuity of different soils, such as mountainous terrains and steep slopes.

From the first prototype we bought in 2001 and the other units purchased in the following years, we have always appreciated the high performance on challenging jobs.

For all these reasons we would certainly recommend Laurini’s “Vulcano” to anyone looking for quality padding equipment.
